Reflections on Readings for the Sixth Sunday of Easter

*"Peace I Leave With You;
 My Peace I Give To You"*

Our readings this Sunday give us a glimpse into the past, present, and the future of our faith and our salvation. The past is the struggles our early Church leaders went through in unifying their fledgling communities of love.

The present is Jesus' dual gifts of His Spirit to guide us and His blessed peace to sustain us. The future is John's vision of the New Jerusalem to come that will be like a massive fortress, gleaming with the splendor of God and basking in the light of the Lamb.

In our first reading (Acts 15:1-2, 22-29), we hear of Paul and Barnabas' great success in converting many Gentiles as disciples. But not without controversy, because many in Jerusalem expected the new converts to conform to all Jewish laws and customs, including circumcision. A Council in Jerusalem, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, settled the matter. This was the first of many 'Ecumenical Councils' that would be called to settle matters of Church doctrine and morality. The most recent was the Second Vatican Council that met from 1962 to 1965.

In our second reading (Revelation 21:10-14, 22-23), St. John describes what the New Jerusalem will look like in symbolic terms that the Jews of his day would have understood. Despite their current trials, they had something to look forward to.

In our Gospel reading (John 14:23-29), we continue to hear from Jesus' farewell address to His disciples at the Last Supper. Here, Jesus gave them two gifts that would guide them and sustain them in their difficult days ahead. The "Advocate" is the Spirit of love shared between the Father and the Son and will be their teacher and guide; and the "Peace" Jesus left with them would comfort and sustain them like nothing the world had ever seen.

Our faith not only has a past and a present, but it has a future. No matter how dire our past has been or our present seems, our future is what God has planned for us. Our future is the New Jerusalem coming down from heaven, where every tear shall be wiped away and God Himself will provide the radiance and the light to warm us. In the meantime, we have the Holy Spirit to teach us and guide us and the Peace of Christ to sustain us. Ours is to believe it, and prepare our souls to receive it.

Over the Jubilee Year, we will explore the themes of Hope, Pilgrimage, and Jubilee, always ending with a question for you to consider over the week.

In this week's Gospel Jesus prepares His disciples for His Ascension. Pilgrimages always require preparation, and sometimes that includes preparing those who do not take the journey with us. But traveling without someone never means we forget them.

Pondering Point

When have you had to travel and make arrangements for what you leave behind? Maybe someone to watch your pets, or pick up the mail. How could that relate to our faith journey?

Thank you for your financial support of

Your generosity helps us continue our good works and much needed ministries.

Where Faith and Knowledge Meet!

God Drop Corner

- Our 4th and 5th grade students proudly represented SRS as they celebrated Mass with Bishop Matano at the Sacred Heart Cathedral last week as part of the Diocese of Rochester's annual Catholic Schools Mass and May Crowning. Our students were honored to be there with students from all 16 of the Diocese of Rochester's Catholic schools. Some of our SRS students also served as alter servers or carried flowers & banners for this special Mass.

- As we get closer to the end of the year, classrooms are wrapping up their field trip adventures out in the community.  Second Grade visited the animals at the Seneca Park Zoo and First Grade enjoyed a trip to the Strasenburgh Planetarium to continue learning about the sun, moon, and stars.

Story Time

"And now I have told you this before it happens," Jesus says in today's Gospel, "so that when it happens you may believe." I always laugh just a tiny bit at Gospel moments like these. After all, all of us throughout human history who read the Gospel don't get to hear Jesus predict it before it happens so that we may believe when it does. But this is the nature of the Gospel: Jesus Himself is the Word of God, and the Gospel is written so that we may hear the Good News and believe. Moments like these are the witness of the Gospel writers to the truth, told to us the same way Jesus often taught: as a story. Because God knows we learn from stories!

So I feel inspired today to reflect on the power of story in teaching children. When I was my kids' age, I remember watching Star Trek: TNG with my parents, and talking about the questions it asked: about being human, about what it looks like when the common good is our priority. I don't think they deliberately chose a TV show as a parenting tool, but they didn't miss the opportunity to let story do what it does best: inspire, imagine, question.

What stories are the children in your life engaging with? How are you entering into conversation with them about their stories? What stories are you sharing with them?
